

RWI Extension Group

This PowerPoint/PDF contains the text and activities you should work through today.

You do not need to print this document.

You will be able to complete the lesson simply by accessing this on a screen such as a laptop or tablet.

All written tasks can be done on paper. Ideally this would be lined, but any paper is acceptable.

Tuesday

15.6.21

Tuesday

Read the Set 2 Speed Sounds as fast as you can.

ay

ee

igh

ow

oo

ar

or air

ir

ou

oy

Tuesday

Read the Set 3 Speed Sounds as fast as you can.

ea oi a-e i-e o-e u-e aw are ur er

ow ai oa ew ire

ear ure tious tion

Tuesday

Read the additional Speed Sounds as fast as you can.

ie

au

e-e wh

ph

kn

ue

Tuesday

Today's focus sound is ph as in: 'take a photo'.

Read the words on the next few pages — I know you can do this on sight!

Make up a sentence for each word.

Choose 2 to write down.

Remember to include all capital letter and punctuation.

Tuesday

phone

Tuesday

elephant

Tuesday

phonics

Tuesday

photograph

Tuesday

autograph

Tuesday

Grey book 12 – A very dangerous dinosaur
Read the Speedy Green Words

dinosaur	making	cried	declared
sounded	disappearing	enormous
dangerous	serious	scrumptious
nervously	cautiously	walk	talk
thought	brother	son	because
buy	bought

Tuesday

Grey book 12 – A very dangerous dinosaur
Read the Red Words

talk thought there where all through one would two was they other were caught worse what want their great should

Now it is time for you to read the story for the second time.

A very dangerous dinosaur

There was a rumour going round
in dinosaur land.

Stegosaurus had told Torosaurus, Torosaurus had told Brachiosaurus -
and now they all knew.

A new kind of dinosaur -
the most ferocious yet - was stalking the forests.

His name was Snatchosaurus!

There was even a song about him:

"Vicious Snatchosaurus prowls through our lands,
With spikes on his feet, and claws on his hands,
Crashing through the treetops on mountainous legs,
Making his dinner from dinosaur eggs!"

This sounded serious.

The other dinosaurs got together
to talk about it.

Stegosaurus was suspicious. Torosaurus was curious.

But Brachiosaurus was furious! "What a cheek!" she bellowed.

"We herbivorous dinosaurs can't protect our eggs from the likes of him."

("What does 'herbivorous' mean, Mum?" squeaked Baby Brachiosaurus.

"It means 'eating plants, not meat'," thundered Brachiosaurus. "Now shush!")

The next day, Stegosaurus left her nest to find food.

There was one egg in the nest, and it would soon be ready to hatch.

As she lumbered along, munching on bits of fern,
Stegosaurus thought anxiously about her precious egg.

When her huge belly was full, she trotted back to the nest.

The egg had gone!

And Snatchosaurus was disappearing behind a fir tree, licking his enormous lips.

"Delicious!" he declared.

The day after that, Torosaurus left her nest.

She had two fine eggs, and she was looking forward to having two gorgeous tiny Torosauruses.

When she returned, chewing nervously on a tree trunk, the two eggs had gone!

And Snatchosaurus was disappearing behind a rock, spitting out bits of shell.

"Marvellous!" he hiccuped.

The day after that, Brachiosaurus kissed her three monstrous eggs and stomped off to the forest.

"Don't leave the nest!" she told Baby.

When she came back, dragging a leafy bush for Baby, the three eggs had gone! And Snatchosaurus was disappearing behind a waterfall, wiping his hideous mouth on a banana leaf.

"Scrumptious!" he cried.

(As for Baby - he was hiding in a cave, shaking from nose to tail.)

"This is ridiculous!" boomed Brachiosaurus. Then she had her big idea.

"Snatchosaurus is a very dangerous dinosaur," she said.

"So it's obvious! We need to find an even more dangerous dinosaur to catch him!"

"But where can we find a dinosaur like that?" asked Stegosaurus, cautiously.

"We will make one!" came the reply.

So they got out their scissors, and their pencils, and their paper, and their card, and their paints, and their sticky tape ... and they made ... a Catchasnatchosaurus!

And the famous Snatchosaurus was never seen again!

Tuesday

Instead of your usual 'hold a sentence' activity. I would like you to take my simple, dull sentences and improve them using a range of interesting vocabulary (adjectives, verbs and even adverbs!).

1. Stegosaurus walked through the forest.
2. "Yummy," said Snatchosaurus, licking his lips.
3. Brachiosaurus was scared. "Help me look after my eggs," she said.